RACE RESULTS

19 December, Criteriums, Kewdale

The forecast was for windy conditions and it wasn't wrong, but rather than dampen activity it seemed to stir up the 96 riders in the various fields into attacking mode. 'A' grade witnessed probably the hardest event of the series to date with an attack moving off the front on the first lap when a strong group comprising Doug Stewart, Sam Smith, Julian Lowes, Chris Glasby, John Gregg, Roy Gillespie, Wade Keyser and the omnipresent Ian Lyne rode away to what looked like an unbeatable lead of over the length of the finishing straight. After about 25 minutes, however, Eddy Hollands, Greg Stoyles and Andrew Brierley pulled away from the main peleton and gradually brought back the escapees to catch them at the 30-minute mark, only for Sam Smith and Chris Glasby to open up another gap, though this was short-lived. Ian Lyne suffered a fall but was allowed back in after a lap out and in the final laps was in no-man's land where he was later joined by Greg Stoyles. Meanwhile Sam Smith and Chris Glasby increased their lead over the bunch to 35 seconds, to finish in that order with Greg Stoyles in third, Ian Lyne 4th and Roy Gillespie and Fenton Moran leading in a stretched crocodile of riders in the 26-strong field.

'B' grade also got off to a flying start when Geoff Marshall and Ian Turner put down the hammer, though they were soon brought back, which led to a few fresh but short-lived attacks. Riding at a fast pace there was little chance of a winning gap appearing, but with three laps to go Clayton Brandwood and new rider Liz Leyden managed to move 300 metres ahead of the field. With a lap to go it looked as if they stood a good chance of retaining a lead but it wasn't to be and a fast moving bunch caught them as they turned the final bend. Clint still managed to latch on to the chasers and had sufficient strength to finish just behind Tim Mollison who again timed his finish to perfection. The newly retired (from work that is) Ian McFall celebrated by taking 3rd while Sean Crummey, Afton Galbraith and John Sonego filled the remaining cash-prize places out of the 25 riders who started the event.

'C' grade also had a largish field of 25 riders and while there were no heroics the pace proved fast and there were moments when groans of pain were heard from the ranks as they passed the judges' line. At the finish Wayne Lally bided his time, sat on the wheels of those leading out to easily come off with 30 metres to go to score a clear victory. Taking trial rides, Andrew Patterson and Karim Keshavjee appeared to enjoy their first ride with the club to finish 2nd and 3rd respectively while old-time sprinter Mick Russell was followed in by Dean Wright, Steve Rouse and the rest of a closely bunched field.

With a relatively small field of 13 riders 'D' grade was nevertheless run at a fast pace and while there were no heroics witnessed from the line the sprint saw strong riding from the sprinters in the bunch. At the end of their 30 minutes and 2 laps Clint Braidwood proved too strong for the opposition and probably looked 'promotion' in the eye when he crossed the line with 20 metres to spare over 2nd placed Pat Briggs, with Doug Macdonald just shading out Dave Bebee, Dave Dellar and Bill Stibbs.

'E' grade was in no mood to take prisoners, with the result that the field split three-quarters of the way through the race, leaving Mick Dunne, Heather Sanderson, Megan McEwan and Brian Kennedy to fight out the finish. For the second week running, Mick Dunne proved too strong for his compatriots and finished a few metres ahead of Heather Sanderson, Megan McEwan and Brian Kennedy, with the remainder of the field riding comfortably to the finish.

9 January – Wangara

While I was sunning myself in Bali our intrepid President, Wayne Lally stepped into the breach to record the following two excellent reports:

What a way to start the first race of the new-year. At the sign-on table we had 104 riders line up down the street, including over 50 wanting to pay annual memberships. We managed to get the first race going only 5 minutes late!

'A' grade had 34 starters and the quality field was out to prove a point. After 20 minutes there were 8 away, but by 40 minutes only 4 were still there. With the big bunch chasing hard at the bell only Ed Hollands and Chris Glasby were strong enough to make contact with the front four. Desperate sprinting saw Ed Hollands win from Brett Stapleton, Jon Gregg, Matt Upton, Matt Korten and Chris Glasby.

'B' Grade, with 25 starters, got away to a very fast pace that continued for the whole 45 minutes. Ever consistent Ian McFall won the bunch sprint from Ian Trayler, Paul Dobson, Andrew Duff, Steve Farren and Paul Heyes.

'C' Grade's 24 starters, really livened up after 10 minutes and the lead bunch kept getting smaller and smaller each lap. At the finish only 3 were left. The sprint went easily to Andrew Patterson from Nick Cunnington and Simon Hood. Further back came Glenn French and Craig Saywell, then Lee Potthast.

'D' Grade, with 15 riders, saw strong man Scott Martin make several break-away attempts, but the consistent riding of the bunch brought him back. The final sprint placings went to Geoff Gilmore and Pat Briggs from Alison Dyson, Dave Dellar, Scott Martin and Wayne Gordon.

Our 'E' Grade set a good steady pace. Coming down to the final sprint, Len Hall showed a clean pair of wheels to Barry Eversden, Fran Watson, Des Williams, Helen Watkins and Denis Robinson.

16 January – Kewdale

We had 83 starters even though many of our riders were in Adelaide for the Tour Down Under events.

'A' grade really livened up when a new rider to our club by the name of Troy Coulthard broke away from the start. Using his TT skills, Troy stayed away, with Paul Prottey in tow for the first 25 minutes. Eventually 4 strong riders caught these two and the six stayed away for a sprint finish. Ryan Suckling was first across the line just in front of Matt Korten, Matt Upton, Paul Prottey, Pedro Turibaka and Troy Coulthard.

'B' Grade had the largest bunch of the day and although there were many attempts to split the field, it still came down to a mass sprint. The strong men - Bruce McLennan, Adam Godwin and Tony Mott took the first three placings, followed by Rick Churchill, Andrew Patterson, Brett Clapham and the rest of the 25 starters.

'C' Grade had a nice sized group, including three ladies. Dean Wright showed the benefit of hard training to win from the consistent Nick Cunnington, Mick Russell and John Liso, followed by Rebecca Wheadon and Ross Powell.

'D' Grade, with just 11 riders, they all worked well together. Doug Macdonald was first around the final corner but Greg Smith finished very fast to win by a length. Bill Stibbs was 3rd ahead of Wayne Gordon, Leon Nieuwenhuizen and Allan McDonald.

'E' Grade. Welshman Dai Sankey was soon into his regular TT mode and broke away early to win by 1½ minutes. Des Williams led the peleton home ahead of Barry Eversden, Fran Watson, Brian Kennedy and Alan Taylor.

23 Jan – Jim Thomson Memorial Criterium Points Score, Rockingham

Rather than being fried in the heat as we have done in previous years, this year's Jim Thompson Memorial turned out to be run in cool and pleasant conditions, under grey skies and with a hint of rain. First off the rank was 'E' grade who set a hot pace in the early laps, resulting in a break of three riders – Des Williams, Brian Kennedy and new member Sandy Hartland who kept together to contest the three sprints. Des Williams with two 1st places took the overall points win with a total of 12 points, which not only gave him the Jim Thompson trophy presented by the Shire of Rockingham, but also the trophy in memory of Jim Campbell who sadly passed away during this race a few years ago. Sandy Holland showed great form in her first race with the club when taking out second while Brian Kennedy was third.

Other than the first sprint that went to Dave Berglund, 'A' grade with 18 riders turned into two events when Ian Lyne performed his usual act of breaking away early in the race. Joined by Sam Smith and Chris Brown the trio dominated the race when cleaning up all the major points. Sam, in taking the four remaining sprints gained 20 points, a score that not only saw him rewarded with the 'A' grade trophy and prize-money, but also the award for the best overall performance of the day. Chris Brown with 12 points was second and Ian Lyne with 8 points was third.

'B' grade was a much closer run event with the group of 11 riders staying together for the duration of the race. Scott Ayles proved best on the day when taking two sprints and recording a second and a third place to score 12 points. Reg Edwards who took the first and also the fifth and final sprint was close behind on 10 points, while Andrew Duff was third, another two points behind.

In 'C' grade, Lee Potthast took first honours when just beating comeback rider Colin Rose across the line, the two along with Wayne Lally dominating the day. Colin took the overall points score by one point on the final sprint when taking out third place for 2 points against Lee's fourth place and 1 point.

Wayne Gordon after taking 2nd place in the first 'D' grade sprint just behind Greg Smith, decided after the 2nd sprint in which he didn't feature, that there was scope to attack and stay away – a policy that paid off as he rode clear to take out the third and fourth sprints with the rest of the field far behind. Greg Smith in also taking out the second sprint gained enough points to launch him into 2nd place overall, while Bill Stibbs came third.

30 January, Criteriums, Wangara

With 81 riders the field was slightly down on previous weeks but that could be put down to the media warnings of doom associated with the cyclone bearing down the west coast. However, apart from a hot and humid start, the expected storms failed to eventuate, leaving the starters to compete in sticky conditions. Not that this stopped the action, especially in 'A' grade where there was a great deal of cut and thrust among the 23 riders, with attack after attack. There were a few promising moves, the first a group of five moved off the front at about the 25 minute mark, but these were soon brought to bay. Ian Lyne tried an epic at the 35-minute mark to be joined soon after by Andrew Prosser and Ian Gregory. However, the effort saw the two chasers suffer and abandon, a fate that also hit Pedro Turibaka who featured prominently on quite a few occasions. With two to go, a promising attack saw Keith Winch and Phil Johnston take a 100metre lead, but their effort was in vain as they were brought back to the fold halfway through the final lap, leaving the finish to a mass bunch sprint. This went to Ryan Suckling who took his 2nd win in his short career with the club when leading in Dean Gathercole, Michael Tapscott, Ian Gregory, Dave Rawlings and Tim Mollison. The latter rider thus cemented the confidence that the handicapper had in his ability when promoting him from 'B' grade. There were lots of sagging knees among those who finished!

With 25 riders, 'B' grade saw the largest field of the day. There were few attacks in the early stages, the first of note being made by Gavin Lawson at the 15-minute mark. He was joined by Gerrit Coatzee on the next lap and when they returned to the shelter of the bunch it was the turn of Clayton Brandwood and Wal Crowley to have a go. This also turned out to be a short-term break but a solo effort by Chris Clarke with four laps to go looked as if it might succeed. However, it proved three-quarters of a lap too far and at the line it was the usual fight of the sprinters. There was only a wafer between the first two riders with the verdict going to Frans Buissink over Ian McFall after a close look at the camera. Tony Mott showed his usual good sprinting form when easing out Matt Davis, Ian Trayler and Paul Heyes, that group taking all the cash prizes.

With only 13 riders there was little chance of a serious attack, and all participants were keen to shut things down. This kept the sprinters happy, especially Mark Stephens who crossed the line just ahead of John Liso, Peter Neuzerling and most of the bunch.

'D' grade's 15 riders kept a steady and at times pedestrian pace for most of the race, perhaps reflecting the humid and sweaty conditions. Megan McEwan tried a break in the final laps but no-one appeared keen to join and help her. As with 'C' it all came down to the final 300metres, with Doug MacDonald taking an easy looking lead as they came around the final bend to hold it to the line. Pat Briggs was some 10metres behind, followed by Allan MacDonald, Alison Dyson and refugee from the British weather, Welshman Dai Sankey happily soaking up the sun to obtain a tan. Unluckiest rider and only non-finisher was Greg Smith who suffered a puncture.

With only 5 'E' graders it was a race of attrition. With Des Williams finding the hot conditions a bit too uncomfortable it left the four survivors to fight it out. On the bell lap Dave Nangle and Michael Guerin joined forces to take a 50metre lead, with the former Scottish exile beating Michael across the line. Brian Kennedy fought it out for 3rd place with Denis Robinson who acknowledged defeat with 30 metres to go.
